HOW TO ENGAGE

Our Engagement Models

Vedant Techserve provides four distinct engagement models so that businesses and startups can select the one that best fits their project needs. Let's take a closer look at these engagement strategies to understand how they each have unique advantages.

FIXED PRICE MODEL

For Entrepreneurs & Startup

REQUIRMENT: FIXED

PROJECT SIZE: SMALL & MEDIUM

CLIENT'S INVOLVEMENT: LOW

TIME FRAME: FIXED

BUDGET: FIXED

HOURLY PRICE MODEL

For Startup Companies

REQUIRMENT: FIXED

PROJECT SIZE: SMALL & MEDIUM

CLIENT'S INVOLVEMENT: HIGH

TIME FRAME: FIXED

BUDGET: FIXED

DEDICATED TEAM MODEL

For Growth Enterprises

REQUIRMENT: EVOLVING

PROJECT SIZE: MEDIUM & LARGE

CLIENT'S INVOLVEMENT: LOW

TIME FRAME: ESTIMATED

BUDGET: FLEXIBLE

ON-SITE TEAM MODEL

For Large Enterprises

REQUIRMENT: EVOLVING

PROJECT SIZE: SUBSTANTIALLY MEDIUM

CLIENT'S INVOLVEMENT: LOW

TIME FRAME: ESTIMATED

1.Fixed Price Model

If you're an entrepreneur with a small- to medium-sized project that has precise, well-defined needs, the fixed pricing model may be right for you. In this model, you must pay a predetermined sum or fixed price for the finished product.

Your project's requirements, specs, and schedules can be precisely established before the development process begins under the fixed price model, which reduces your risk. A set price approach has the advantage of requiring little management from your end.

We will handle every facet of the development process, project management, quality assurance, and analysis. When it comes to lowering your costs, this model is regarded as one of the best models.

3.Dedicated Team Model

The dedicated team model is for you if you are an entrepreneur who wants to create a mobile application for your business but lacks the time to consistently convey your requirements with each team member, such as a developer, designer, quality analyst, and web developer.

In this approach, you can hire a whole team that includes quality analysts, project managers, UI/UX designers, Android and iPhone developers, backend web developers, and quality analysts.

The project manager will supervise the entire team and take care of the project; all you need to do is communicate with them about the requirements for your project. To put it briefly, the key goal of this approach is to assemble a committed team that will function flawlessly as your own.

2.Hourly Price Model

Whether you are a startup business or an entrepreneur, the hourly price model, also known as the time and material model, is the best choice if you have small project requirements like changes or fixes in an already developed app, backup or restore, crash recovery, or want to upgrade your app with new features and functionalities.

You can engage a specialist to determine the number of working hours needed for your project. In this engagement style, you can speak with the hired expert directly and lay out your needs. During the development phase, you can also make changes and choose extra features if necessary.

The expert will follow your instructions and make the necessary adjustments or fixes for your project.

4.On-site Team Model

Have you got a project in mind that requires frequent communication with the team? The on-site team approach is the best choice if you want to collaborate closely on your project with the developers and have open communication with them.

With this strategy, you may employ a team of dedicated developers to work from your offices under your direction. You can meet with the team in person to directly speak with them, discuss your demands, and instruct them to work in accordance with those needs.

To come onsite to your office for the development, you can engage a team or a developer. You will have the freedom to manage the resource and use the abilities as you see fit because it works from your workplace.
